Some of the Key Takeaways from This Digest Include:

- Following the economic recovery, the global financial services market is expected to grow over the next 5 years by annual growth of 6%. The growth of the market capitalization of the financial services industry will be provided by large technology companies and fintech companies.
- Despite the significant shortfall, JPMorgan Chase and Bank of America are still the biggest players in the Longevity industry among other banks, while Zurich Insurance Group and MetLife have shown one of the most stable trajectories in comparison to other big players in the insurance sector.
- Since most developed longevity startups are becoming mature companies, large institutional investors are being attracted to the industry, besides that, longevity companies tend to intensify their corporation with banks, and governments as well as other companies in the industry, which brings more competition in the sector.
- The biggest Series A Round funding received Sana Biotechnology $700M, Series B Round ElevateBio $170M, Series C Round Freenome $270M, Series D Round Recursion Pharmaceuticals $239M, and Cue have received a $481M grant from US government.
