

Informational Materials and Engagement Resources for Regional Partners and Representatives

Deep Knowledge Group (DKG) proudly introduces our cutting-edge suite of advanced, no-code, plug-and-play SaaS products tailored to the operational and ecosystemic complexities of advanced science and technology industries. Developed for internal use by an international consortium with a 10-year track record of excellence, these products are renowned for their capability in analysing, benchmarking, and forecasting operationally complex tech industries. For the first time, DKG is making these products available as SaaS offerings for clients to integrate into their own product and service offerings their branding.

We are seeking regional partners (organizations) and representatives (individual) capable of selling our entirely unique suite of products on a commission basis (22% of the contract price) in specific regions outside of the UK, where they have an existing network of contacts (with particularly high interest in regions within the EU, Asia, MENA and Latin America).

For this purpose, we have developed an extensive set of resources, documentation, engagement assets and message drafts to assist our representatives in the work, collected below.
